

NAVY SECRETARY REBUKES MIDDIES

Annapolis Students Scored for Behavior After Big Football Game.

SAYS CONDUCT DISGRACE

Denby Holds Guilty Ones Brought Shame Upon Entire Academy.

[By Associated Press.]
WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—Midshipmen of the Naval Academy, who were ever-indulgently after the Army-Navy football game Saturday, were held up to public scorn today by Secretary Denby in one of the sternest rebukes ever administered by a Secretary of the Navy.

Many members of the corps, Mr. Denby declared in a public statement, not only disgraced themselves but brought shame upon the entire Academy. He said that the conduct of the midshipmen at the game in Philadelphia, brought such shame upon the Academy itself as it never had known before.

Says Majority Behaved.
The Secretary said he did not know how many of the midshipmen drank heavily, and was convinced that the great majority conducted themselves with propriety. But he added that though of them had failed in their duty "to bring shame upon all."

He announced that an investigation would be begun at once and steps taken to insure "that such an occurrence will never be repeated."

None of the guilty was named in the Secretary's indictment, nor did it appear certain tonight that the department would find it possible to single out any individual midshipman for punishment. It was indicated that the inquiry probably would take the direction of a general effort to establish what the conditions were that made the incident possible, and that any disciplinary action probably would fall upon the entire Annapolis establishment in such a way as to keep the corps within more stringent limitations.

Cadets Apparently Orderly.
Both Secretary Denby and Secretary Weeks, of the War Department, together with many of the highest officers of the army and navy, attended the game in Philadelphia, but it was said today that the War Department had no information that any of the cadets from West Point conducted themselves improperly. The cadets did not remain for the Varsity's festivities.

Still another spectator at the game was Acting Commissioner Jones, of the Education Bureau. He likewise declared he had observed no violation of the Volstead Law and had taken no steps to investigate reports that the statute had been broken. He indicated, however, that State prohibition Director Davis, of Pennsylvania, probably would make an investigation on his own initiative.

Secretary Denby said in response to inquiries that he would not bring up the question of the relationship between the midshipmen's conduct and the prohibition law. He drew a sharp line between the two, and said that the investigation to be conducted would be based on a matter of military discipline.

Cadets Returned Home.
When attention was called to the statement of the Navy Secretary, Secretary Weeks, declined to make any comment. The West Point cadets returned directly to West Point after the game, and in accordance with the practice of the War Department, the West Point team and substitutes went to New York where they spent the night at the hotel. At no time were any of the West Pointers scattered in Philadelphia, their arrival having been timed so that they would be back just before the game and their departure coming immediately after the game was over.

The West Pointers, it further was pointed out, were in Philadelphia under direct command of Brigadier-General Shelden, superintendent of the Academy, while the superintendent of the Naval Academy, Rear Admiral Wilson, was forced to leave Annapolis immediately after the game on account of the illness of Mrs. Wilson, confined at home with pneumonia. It is assumed that as the head of the Annapolis institution, the first inquiry of the Navy Department will be directed to Admiral Wilson, however, even though the incident complained of occurred in his absence.

Hotel Manager Makes Statement.
PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 27.—James J. McLaughlin, managing director of the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel, where the Navy ball was held Saturday night, today denied that there was any unusual conduct on the part of shipyard or others that attended the game. "Enforcement officers were all over the place," said Mr. McLaughlin, "and I saw no drinking or disorderly conduct."

"It was a nice and one of the quietest affairs I have ever seen for a big event. There were about 4,000 persons present."

SIX AMENDMENTS TO SHIP MEASURE ADOPTED IN HOUSE

Those of the Standard Oil Company, said, "away from being the recipients of any subsidy. This was taken up with five or six Republicans in the committee which drew the bill, and was fought two days over it. I considered it was absolutely vital for our war purposes that we should have those ships. However, it seems to me that the sentiment of the House that we are not going to have any more wars and that we do not need the ships. So that section will come out."

Representative Dickinson, Republican, Iowa, one of the farm bill leaders, failed in his effort to have farmers exporting products put on income tax rebate. The amendment was offered to the income tax rebate section, which was later voted out.

The provision in the bill stipulating that one-half of the total number of immigrants admitted to the United States should be brought over in American ships was attacked, but it remained unchanged. There was little of the five-minute debate, which usually attends the consideration of important House bills, off by motions.

Meeting an hour ahead of time tomorrow, the House will plunge into the session relating to direct government aid to ships. The bill will come up for a vote and passage Wednesday afternoon, after which the House will quit over Thanksgiving.

CHICAGO WARMS TO WAR PREMIER

A car directly behind the Tiger, leaped out with riot guns to drive the crowd back.

Another huge crowd was massed about the City Hall and the police were obliged to smash a passageway through the crowd for the Tiger to escape. Escorted to Mayor Thompson's office, the Mayor introduced him to the Cabinet members as "our honored guest."

"I am very proud to welcome you to our city," the Mayor said.

"Thank you," Clemenceau answered.

"I am sorry we have no sunshine for you," the Mayor added with a gesture to the murky weather outside.

"Isn't it at your disposal?" demanded the Tiger.

"I suppose they will blame me for it—they blame me for everything," the Mayor said.

"We have plenty of moonshine, but not much sunshine," put in General Dickinson.

The party remained in Mayor Thompson's office only a few minutes, returning to their cars to drive to the Potter Palmer home, where Clemenceau is to stay during his visit and a half day's visit.

The cavalcade passed again through the dense crowds to Michigan Boulevard and out the Boulevard to Lake Shore Drive. Moving picture men with their cameras and huge charges of flashlight powder added color to the drive through the darkening city.

Battery Thunders Salute.
As Clemenceau's car turned into Michigan Boulevard a battery of 72 in Grant Park thundered a salute.

Another crowd had massed about the big brownstone Potter Palmer house, and set up a chorus on "Vive la France" and "Vive le Tigre" as his car rolled up and he stepped out.

When he had been greeted by Mrs. Potter Palmer, Clemenceau granted the army of newspaper writers who had trailed him, a five-minute interview. Entering the room where they were waiting, he raised his gray-haired hand and exclaimed:

"I plead not guilty!"

After he had given his impressions of the Chicago of today and compared its skyscrapers and rich dwelling with the "poor little town from Milwaukee," which he remembered, he was informed that he had been made the subject of another Senate debate at Washington today.

"Again?" he exclaimed, with an expression of astonishment.

Boston Information Official.
When he was told that Senator Hitchcock had challenged his position statement that all black troops had been withdrawn from the Rhine, he replied curtly that the information he had given in Boston was "official."

The only comment he would make on the uproar that followed an attempt by a wounded negro soldier to inject himself into the Senate debate, was with a shrug: "That's no business of mine."

The Tiger evinced great interest in the dispatches, however, and seized the first opportunity to read a sheet of Associated Press "copy," which was left for him. He sent the Associated Press correspondent word later that he had nothing more to add to his Boston interview.

The interviewers asked him to comment on the fact that Woodrow Wilson had once written a letter in which he, too, had charged that France was militaristic.

Wilson's Letter "Forgotten."
"It is all forgotten," he declared. "That was centuries ago."

He said he was looking forward with great pleasure to visiting the former President at Washington next week.

Asked if he planned to talk in this country about the league of nations, he replied:

"I am ready."

But when the questioner asked him if he was a member of the league, he replied: "That is a more complicated question."

Clemenceau retired at 8 o'clock after his customary supper of soup, cheese and five-minute eggs.

He planned to arise about 4 o'clock and begin final work on the address he is to deliver in the auditorium tomorrow afternoon.

Will Be Heard on Radio.
He will speak here to the biggest audience he has yet faced. The auditorium holds about 5,000 and seats have been unobtainable for days. Amplifiers have been set up so that the crowd outside can hear.

SENATORS ATTACK AND DEFEND TIGER IN WARM DEBATE

Germany is preparing to wage another war on France," he asserted.

Senator Owen, expressed sorrow that Clemenceau, Lloyd George and others at the peace table had "wrung concessions" from former President Wilson and caused resentment in this country with sentiment resulting in rejection of the Versailles treaty.

"The French leadership is slowly isolating from the French government the sympathy of the world," he declared. "In spite of the fact that the American people have felt a great and sentimental friendship for the people of France."

May Bring Bitter Understanding.
Senator Owen said M. Clemenceau's visit might "open the door" to a better understanding between European nations and the United States, and he suggested inviting French, British and Italian leaders to this country for a conference.

Declaring that M. Clemenceau "exerted much" from Woodrow Wilson in the making of the Versailles treaty, Senator Owen said America would not support "a policy of greed, brute force and injustice between nations," and that America could not co-operate with France in the present status of affairs.
